

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

The consolidation in media in recent years has given us a media that does not represent a diversity of ideas, and that does not serve the interests of the American people. I urge you to reject all future consolidation of media, and to take actions to break up the current monopoly over media sources held by a handful of powerful corporations.
